

COOLEST PRODUCTS 2010

2010 saw the release of hundreds of healthcare IT-based products. For this, our end-of-the-year issue, HMT put together a sampling of some of the most-talked-about solutions and gadgets. Enjoy!

Self-service patient check-in Phreesia automates the patient check-in process. Patients use the wireless, touch-screen, swipe-enabled PhreesiaPad to provide demographic, insurance and clinical information, as well as pay copayments and balances. In addition to automating data entry for the front-office staff, electronic patient signatures are secured on all required HIPAA forms and real-time eligibility and benefits checks are conducted. Phreesia integrates into existing practice management and EHR systems. Better yet, Phreesia never forgets to ask for payment. All hardware, software, installation, support and training is included in the system, which also features access to Phreesia's online Practice Portal for designated employees and as many PhreesiaPads, routers and chargers as needed. Phreesia
